

Construction Superintendent

Standard Builders, Inc. seeks exceptional candidates to join our construction management team in the role of Superintendent. The position is responsible for on-site supervision of one or more simultaneous construction projects by leading, directing, scheduling and coordinating the work of employees and subcontractors, to ensure successful completion of the project within established safety, scheduling, quality and cost parameters. Job sites are generally located in Massachusetts and New Hampshire, and are in healthcare, commercial and institutional settings.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Bachelor's degree in Construction Management or related field experience
- At least three (3) years of experience in the construction industry, including one (1) year as a foreman/superintendent on construction job sites
- Other:
 - Thorough understanding of industry practices, processes, standards and their impact on projects, project delivery systems, industry materials, methods and tools
 - Experience with craft/union agreements
 - Knowledge of technologies which facilitate reporting and communicating from field locations
 - OSHA 30, CPR and First Aid certifications
 - Must be able to control, manage and direct subcontractors with a workforce representing a broad array of trade specialties and supervise SBI foremen.
 - Strong leadership, planning, scheduling, organization, written and verbal communication, interpersonal, computer and multi-tasking skills.

Hiring Company Description

Standard Builders is a mid-size construction company that provides services to the private sector; a collection of highly respected commercial, higher education, and healthcare clients. Having offices in both Connecticut and Massachusetts, we hold to a 70 year tradition of offering a complete range of high-quality professional construction services which encompass General Contracting, Construction Management, and Design-Build project deliver methods.

Standard Builders prides ourselves in our award-winning company culture. The team is vibrant, energetic, and passionate about what they do, but prioritizes work life balance with an emphasis on family. Managers actively seek to take feedback from the employees to improve the work environment. Through this culture, we have recently implemented flexible work from home opportunities, and have offered flexible work hours for over six years. Leadership is promoted from within, as is evidenced by the many current executives and senior leaders that started as interns or entry level positions 10-15 years prior. As an employee of Standard Builders, you will always have the opportunity and space to grow both as an individual and in your career, and voice suggestions to make actual changes in the company.

Standard Builders has been awarded "Top Workplace in Connecticut" every year since 2007, awarded "Outstanding Ethics" by the Hartford Courant, AGC of Connecticut General Contractor/Construction Manager of the Year, and multiple AGC Build Connecticut project specific awards for best large renovation project, small renovation project and other specialty projects. By offering flexible work hours, the ability to work remotely, competitive pay, ample room for career growth, and utilizing state-of-the-art technologies, Standard Builders provides an excellent work environment for those interested in pre-construction and construction services.

To learn more about Standard Builders, visit our website: www.standardbuilders.com.